The Truly Terribly Horrible Sweater...That Grandma Knit by Debbie Macomber

"Cameron hates the sweater that his grandmother knit for his birthday, until she visits and tells him the special meaning behind its design. Includes instructions for knitting a similar sweater." — From Follett

Red Hat by Lita Judge

"In this almost wordless springtime picture book, an adorable crew of baby animals borrows a familiar-looking red hat (last seen on the head of Red Sled's unsuspecting protagonist) and embarks on a joy-filled escapade--until all that is left is a long piece of red string!" — From Publisher

Extra Yarn by Mac Barnett

Just How Long Can a Long String Be?

by Keith Baker

"Be it tied to a balloon, or kite, or hanging a picture, or stringing a banjo or a mop, a bird explains to an ant how long a string needs to be." — From Follett
