

Writing Trait: Ideas

Learning Intentions:

- establish a clear understanding of the importance of details while creating and writing;
- providing positive, descriptive feedback to peers

carol.walters@sd71.bc.ca

By Janet Robert Munsch

Before Reading

Before reading, make some cookie connections ~ favourite types of cookies, baking memories, experiences decorating cookies etc. Hopefully students won't get too hungry to focus on the rest of this lesson!

Invite students to think about parts of a story (characters, setting, problem, solution). Who might the main character of this story be? Where could this story take place? What might the problem be? And what are possible solutions?

During Reading

You may want to listen to Robert Munsch telling this story <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=5SRGBzP4kms> or read it yourself. Either way, Munsch books require lots of animation of voice!

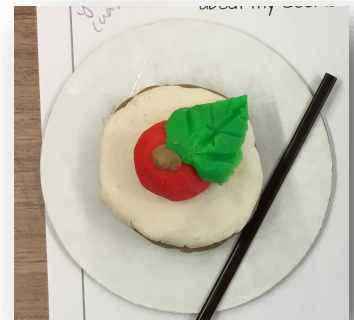

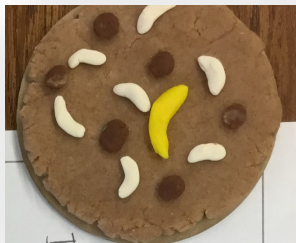

Pause during reading offering opportunities for students to make connections, predictions, ask questions or make inferences.

After Reading

Some playdough is in order! Have students create a round, flat cookie with a solid colour of playdough. From there, decorations and sprinkles are the next step. These are the details that turn a plain cookie into a fabulous temptation.

Once all cookies are created, offer a piece of paper to each student to place their cookie. This paper will be used by classmates to offer specific, descriptive feedback about the details that were added to a cookie. This serves as an introduction to peer assessment.

Students can choose between writing a story ala Robert Munsch about their cookie, or created a procedural piece of writing in which they explain the steps to follow to create a playdough cookie.

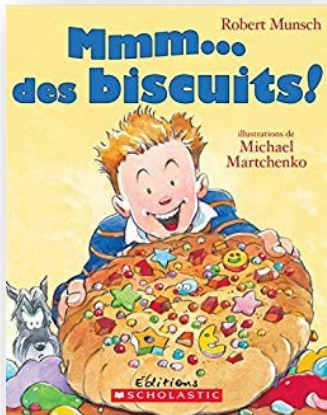

Writing Trait: Ideas

Learning Intentions:

- establish a clear understanding of the importance of details while creating and writing;
- providing positive, descriptive feedback to peers

carol.walters@sd71.bc.ca

By Janet Robert Munsch

Before Reading (The French version of this book...)

Before reading, make some cookie connections ~ favourite types of cookies, baking memories, experiences decorating cookies etc. Hopefully students won't get too hungry to focus on the rest of this lesson!

Invite students to think about parts of a story (characters, setting, problem, solution). Who might the main character of this story be? Where could this story take place? What might the problem be? And what are possible solutions?

During Reading

You may want to listen to Robert Munsch telling this story <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=5SRGBzP4kms> or read it yourself. Either way, Munsch books require lots of animation of voice!

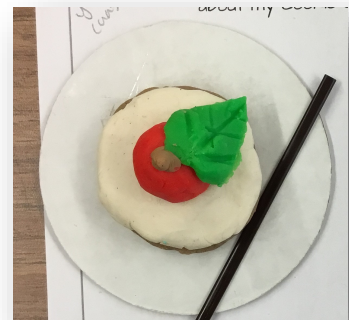

Pause during reading offering opportunities for students to make connections, predictions, ask questions or make inferences.

After Reading

Some playdough is in order! Have students create a round, flat cookie with a solid colour of playdough. From there, decorations and sprinkles are the next step. These are the details that turn a plain cookie into a fabulous temptation.

Once all cookies are created, offer a piece of paper to each student to place their cookie. This paper will be used by classmates to offer specific, descriptive feedback about the details that were added to a cookie. This serves as an introduction to peer assessment.

Students can choose between writing a story ala Robert Munsch about their cookie, or created a procedural piece of writing in which they explain the steps to follow to create a playdough cookie.

At your course like it cookie so looks so seems

Descriptive Feedback:

These are the details that others like about my cookie creation ...

I like ur cookie because it looks like something you would get at a super fancy restaurant
C.H
Omg you cookies are so cool. ES.

I really like the way you berry
I would eat this. HA

I love the leaf on the cherry. A.P
I love your marachino cherry and it's leaf.

I like the cherry sm
I love the details sh

I like how you put a derry on top. EV J.N

Your cookie has a very real looking berry on top Mrs ♡

I love your cherry jam
At I love the frosting and the cherry

I like how this is a cherry on it

Descriptive Feedback:

These are the details that others like about my cookie creation ...

Rétroaction Descriptive :

Voici les détails de ma création que les autres ont aimés...

Annabelle

Descriptive Feedback:

These are the details that others like about my cookie creation ...

Your cookies are so cute!

LWC
I love the details!
I love your cookies!
Three little perfect cookies are so tempting to eat! Mrs. W.

I like how you added three cookies.
DN.

I like how you added a lot of detail.
J.N.

I really like them because they look so good!

I love that Macaron AT

I like how you made a tiny wipe cream EV

3 tasty cookies sm

Your cookies look real!

Taki

Descriptive Feedback:

These are the details that others like about my cookie creation

I love your cookie it makes me cry I love your cookie is very christmasy because of the tree! CHRISTMAS!!

I love the tree!!

I like how you made a tree. EV

I like how you made your cookie christmas themed.

omg your cookie is so cool and detail the christmas tree! DN

I like the bug thing

I like the Christmas tree with red and green and the star! -DF.

I like the tree! JBM

I love you cookie it's tall and tall and so good! SD.

I like how they is so cute and a tree! J.V J.B

Sadie

Descriptive Feedback:
These are the details that others like about my cookie creation ...

this cookie is amazing and talented.

I like the M^{and} MMS
I really like your cookie because of the icing and mms on it T.W

I like how you add a bunch of sprinkles it looks so real. A.P

I love all the colorful sprinkles At

It looks like a birthday cake. yum! S.S.

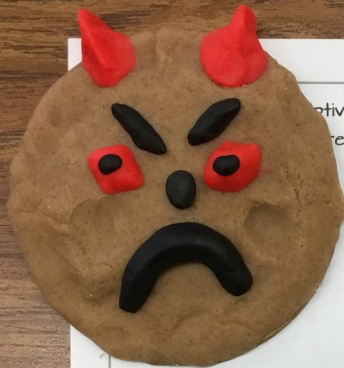

I like the w/c sm

The icing in the center looks like a baking specialist did the work! Mrs W.

I like dat wipe cream. DN.

Shc/2/23

Descriptive Feedback:
These are the details that others like about my cookie creation ...

I like the horns

Your cookie is very halloweenish

I like how you did a face EV

I like the detail

I like the face JBM

I like dat face

I like the eyebrows

I like the demon sm

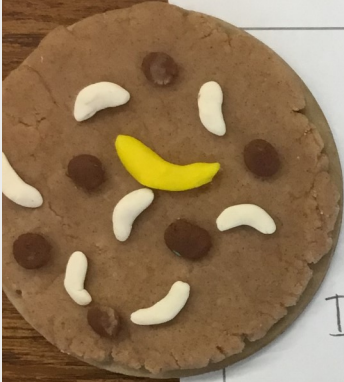

The devil of cookies... I'm scared to eat it. S.S.

I like the demon face - DF.

I love the devil idea At

I like how you added the mad demon face. A.P

I like the satin face M-DN

Descriptive Feedback:

These are the details that others like about my cookie creation ...

Bonbard

I liked how you added bananas. AP

I like how you added

I like the chocolate and bananas. J.N
Chocolate Chips EV

I Love coolty becs it has banana and I like you added a bannana. DV

It looks like it has vanilla bits. ss.

I like that your COOie is CUTE. ES.

I love how you made a bannana. AT
I like the bannana. ss

I like the banana its very SH

It looks

Justice

Descriptive Feedback:

These are the details that others like about my cookie creation ...

I think you coolty is amazing

It's colorful. EV

It's very unige

I Love the wipe cream

I like the white bit. HA

I like the dark spots

It has mint and whip cream. ss

love the wipe cream AT

I love the details sh

I like how you added the Sprinkles. AP

I like the WC SM

